—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will meet next Wednesday, Sept. 2d, at the home of Mrs. Wittensten. Everybody cordially invited to attend.

Northwestern Business College offers the following complete courses: College Preparatory, Normal, Commercial, Shorthand and Typewriting, and Music and Elocution.

—Geo. Jarrett returned from his western trip, last Saturday. While there he purchased 160 acres of timothy grass land, 10 miles from Kalspell, Mon. He expects to return there in about a month.

The New Stoughton Wagon has more good points than any other wagon, being a light running, and having a 5 years guaranty attached to it. Sold and warranted by LUNDGREN, WITTENSTEN & Co.

Misses Adelene and Blanche Nelson and Miss Nellie Hoffmeister went to Stephen yesterday to attend the wedding of Miss Hattie Eleanor Brett to Mr. Aaron M. Dillivan, which was solemnized there last evening.

—The Norwegian school picnic at the farm of John Iverson Skurdahl, in Boxville, last Sunday was enjoyed by a large number of people, the weather also being pleasant. An excellent program was rendered, of which Mrs. T. Bang had charge.

—A mule-footed pig has been stuffed and mounted by taxidermist Brown, for Julius Pleth, of St. Hilaire. Instead of being cleft, as in the common breed of pigs, the foot is all in one, resembling the hoof of mule. The pig is said to be an Ozark mountain breed, and not a freak of nature.

Parson Bros., having purchased the old Mill elevator, are prepared to buy all kinds of grain at the regular market price. Having had six years experience as private elevator men we know what grain is worth and will try and give satisfaction to everybody. Try us when you sell your grain.

J. A. Button, principal of Button's Business College, Crookston, Minnesota, is a stenographer, court reporter and expert accountant of twenty years experience. He has placed over one hundred pupils in good paying positions during the past year. Situations are positively guaranteed to all graduates. It takes only three months to complete the course. Do you want a position?

—N. A. Nelson and his son Louis A. Nelson were in from New Solum last Saturday shaking hands with Warren friends. The old gentleman, Mr. Nelson, has not been in Warren for a number of years. Barring a little more silver in his beard and hair, he looks as young and active as in years gone by when he was a frequent visitor to the city.

—Mrs. Ed Mossefin returned to her home at Crookston on Monday.

A new line of men's clothing at very moderate prices at Lodoen's store.

—Mrs. D. Farrell visited the past week with friends at Crookston and with the Robbecks at Thief River Falls.

Button's Business College, Crookston, Minn., secures positions for all its graduates. Fall term begins Sept. 7th. Send for new catalogue.

Yours truly,
J. A. Button.

Crookston College begins its ninth school year August 31. You can select your own studies from the following courses, viz: Preparatory, Teachers, Commercial, Shorthand and Typewriting, Music and Penmanship. Send for free catalogue. Address J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minnesota.

—Ed Mossefin and O. C. Rood, two progressive young business men of Crookston, drove to Warren Sunday, but owing to the rain next day, had to take the train back. Mr. Mossefin found lodgment with his father-in-law, Mayor Taralseth and Mr. Rood was taken in out of the wet by Chas. Wittensten, at the Pembina farm.

—It is reported, that while Pete Shepherd was digging potatoes on his farm one mile north of town, the other day, they were so nice and large and so much resembled prairie chickens, that the game warden, through the aid of a powerful field glass and past experience (?), stealthily, and with true indian agility, sneaked up from behind and was on the point of arresting him for chicken hunting, when he discovered his mistake.

—Last Saturday evening a company of about twenty-five young people met at the Winchester residence, as participants in a "linen shower" to Miss Mabel Frank, in honor of her approaching wedding. The rooms were beautifully decorated with sweet peas, as was also a large basket suspended in a room for the reception of the presents, which were many as well as fine. Rich refreshments were served and a general good time enjoyed by all.

—Andrew Peterson, of town of Brislet, was kicked on the leg by a horse a couple weeks ago. The injury was not considered serious and consequently not attended to until some days after, when the limb swelled so much that nothing could be done with it until the inflammation was reduced. A bone was found to be broken and Mr. Peterson is now confined at Miss Lindstrom's hospital with his leg in a plaster cast.

—A blind couple, man and wife, discoursed music sweet on the streets on Monday afternoon and evening. The man played the violin very skillfully and the woman played the bass viol and also sang quite beautifully. Nearly all the patriotic songs and airs that have stirred the hearts of millions, were rendered by them to the eager listeners, and the nickels and dimes that were dropped on their plate made a sweet refrain. The Italians have an old saying that "when God closes a door he opens a window," and in the case of these two people it is well verified, that, though shut out of the world of light and color, they have a wonderful feeling for sound.

—Luther Furs went to Stephen last Friday to bid on a painting contract.

A good, light side spring hunting or farm buggy for sale cheap. Inquire at this office.

—E. C. Loup and family, of Iowa, arrived yesterday to settle on section 15, in town of Farley.

—A pleasant card party was enjoyed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Day last Tuesday evening.

A full carload of Stoughton Wagons just unloaded at LUNDGREN, WITTENSTEN & Co.'s Warehouse.

—Mamie Westerberg returned to her home in Crookston yesterday and Ella Lundgren accompanied her for a visit.

—P. A. Dalquist arrived home Monday to spend a week on the farm resting up from his duties as railway mail clerk.

—Mrs. Peter Barnhart, of Wasioja, Minn., arrived Tuesday for a visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. E. Lundquist.

—License to wed has been issued to Arthur Bedard and Marie Dufault; Aaron M. Dillivan and Hattie Eleanor Brett.

—Mr. and Mrs. Jonas and Mrs. Aug. Brown, of Thief River Falls, spent Sunday in Comstock, visiting with Wm. Loeslie and friends.

—Rev. Quammen, of Rochester, Minn., will conduct services, in English, next Sunday evening, at 8 o'clock, in the Swedish Lutheran church.

Rev. J. M. O. Ness, president of Concordia College, Moorhead, Minn., preached in the Norwegian Lutheran church in this city last Sunday evening.

—E. M. Sathre, of the Vega Land Company, has purchased 36 lots in Harwood & Brinkerhoff's addition to the city of Warren, from Frans Fransson.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church will hold an Experience Party Friday, Sept. 4, in the church. A cordial invitation extended to all. They will serve ice cream and cake at the usual price.

—Miss Louise Grindeland has accepted a position as teacher of music in the Park Region Luther College, at Fergus Falls, Minn., and will leave to assume her duties in that institution some time in November.

—Last Thursday evening was a truly pleasant one at the Lamberston home in this city, with Miss Flora as the hostess. About thirty of her friends were invited to spend the evening at progressive sinch, which occupied their time until about 10:30, when time was called and the score counted, which resulted in W. A. Knapp securing the head prize, a young Guinea pig, and Mr. Whitaker the foot prize, a box of shoe black, which, we learn, he busily applied to those desiring his services. Elegant refreshments of toothsome delicacies with iced sherbets as dessert and lemonade with grape juice frappe to quench the thirst was served upon the buffet plan, followed to the close with a social tete-a-tete among the guests. The rooms were beautifully decorated with many kinds of green foliage and fruits, while each guest was decked with a tissue paper cap favor in unique shape, and worn throughout the evening. Many were the compliments paid by those present who will long remember it as one of the most enjoyable social events of the season.

—There has been a general strike in Warren this week. Everybody has struck; storekeepers, clerks, hotel men, blacksmiths, livery men, newspaper men, carpenters, bricklayers, and even the proprietors of saloons. The strike has been truly sympathetic, and as is usual in such cases nearly every striker had less money after the strike than before. The strikers have gathered on the railway right of way on afternoons and evenings and have sometimes been very demonstrative. Clubs have been used. It has been positively dangerous to get in the way of the striking men. Fortunately no one has been hurt, except, perhaps, to his feelings. The object of the strike has not been to raise wages but to raise a certain weight, suspended between two bars, in a crude looking machine that might be mistaken for a pile driver. The one who could raise the weight the highest had the greatest number of scores to his credit—minus the five cents—and was pronounced the champion striker. We do not know who claims the championship. We raised the weight about 1 pound and 13 ounces, more or less. The owner of the machine raised the dust.
